

Word of the Week for January 11, 2009

What a great week it has been spiritually in the life of First Baptist Grandview! Many of you have spent some sweet time in the Word of God and prayer! As we have been spending 24 hours a day in prayer and Bible reading this week, I believe God has been pleased with us. For others who have committed to reading through the Bible this year, we are two weeks into our adventure and what a journey it has already been. It is so much fun to hear comments and read the blog online (www.fbcreaders.blogspot.com) about what God is showing to those who are reading.

My prayer is that we all begin to form habits that will be spiritually life changing in the year 2009!

Don't forget the Disciple Now meeting today following the 11:00 worship service. D-Now is one of the most exciting times in the life of our church year and you will want to be a part in some way. Come to the meeting or get with Daniel to find out how you can become involved!!!

Have a great week!
