

Word of the Week

What a way to start off our New Year . . . being allowed to explore our Christian heritage through actual ancient scrolls. It is such a privilege to have Charles Garrett and Rabbi Marty Cohen present today to teach us God's Word through the use of Old Testament books written in their original Hebrew language. It will be so exciting for all present to hear the promise and proclamation recorded in these scrolls which date back as much as several hundred years. To have the Lord's message transcend through time and be ever as relevant now as its beginning is absolutely astonishing.

It is our prayer that through today's presentation, you will experience God's truth and share it's testimony with others in the days and years ahead.
