

Word of the Week

This is a difficult word of the week to write for me. Any time you spend six years ministering with and along side someone, you develop a bond with that person which lasts forever. Unfortunately there are situations when a staff member leaves a church and people celebrate because the person is leaving. I cannot imagine what that would be like. Other times people celebrate because of what a person has accomplished in the ministry of the church and community where he has served. That will be the case when we gather next Sunday to bless Daniel, Erica, Jacob and Brandt.

I hope you will come out May 23rd and share in our farewell and also take an opportunity to bless them either with your words, through the love offering we will be gathering, or both!

What a blessing Daniel has been to our church over the past six years! Let's celebrate!

I hope you have a great week!
